

Do-it-yourself shoppers looking for convenience and retailers trying to reduce costs are fueling the global vending machine industry. Smarter & connected machines present new vending options and enhanced shopping experiences also for vendors who wish to have direct access to consumers in or out of the store. Experience the next level with Shekel brainweigh™ Innovendi: Identify yourself (magnetic cards, biometric, NFC) - Choose desired products (even return) - Close the Door & Enjoy!

Innovendi is a locked enclosure to store products on shelf racks at chilled or room temperature. Equipped with Shekel brainweigh™ Product Aware technology, the Artificial Intelligence based system records all transactions with standard real-time communication to the machine operator. Product identification, product position, replenishment plans and even suggested pricing are accomplished through IoT platforms and predictive analytics.
